I have so many memories over the years. You always knew how to liven up a party and even get into mischief a few times. We had a lot if fun during Tuesday evening classes. You were the first one to let me ride your dirtbike , even though I had to push it back from school. And one of the first I put make up on when you passed out at a party. You were the boy who never grew up, still looking like a young boy. I will miss that smile and good heart. Fly high my friend, see ya on the other side.
