“ She was a woman of great courage and truly dedicated to her family. My deepest sympathy goes to her loved ones....her friends...those who all knew her....real fighter to the end...She will be missed.

“ I remember the day this baby girl came into the world. She was in such a hurry to be here. When she was little, she could be so quiet you would not know she was around. Then I would find her curled up in the strangest places, such as under an end table, asleep. She grew into the most into the most beautiful young women in front of my eyes. She helped people she didn't know and often offered a kind word to those around her. Her courage should be an example for all of us.

“ When we were kids, we played together very often. Cheri's my niece of course but we're close in age. We were all trying to pretend like we were great singers and we were mimicking tv commercials. Cheri decided to sing "Little Friskies, Little Friskies, Ain't we got fun". She was very off-key and she and I have laughed about that memory many times over the years.

Another memory - I used to be in the Army and one of the times I came home, we decided to go to the Zoo. It poured but we laughed it off in our positive good nature way and went on with the day SOAKED to the bones.
