“ I loved seeing Sandy when I would go to breakfast with Dad at the Huddle House. I think that Dad, Hoss, and Sandy are sitting at a table in heaven discussing politics, baseball, and farming. Oh, how heated those discussions could get! He will be missed.

I got to know Sandy and Mary when they moved to Williamsville. Mary was my quilting buddy and lived 7 doors down the street. Sandy would stop when he came from the farm or out to eat to talk when I was outside walking my dog. What a wonderful family to have known Love you both. Roberta and John Fanale
