“ It never crossed my mind that the last time I saw you would be the last time... I never said goodbye... who would've known when we both gave birth to baby boys on Halloween a few hours and doors apart they would become best friends... Gus mackers, soccer leagues, baseball games, travel ball we did it all. You kept my youngest two when I returned to work and loved all my children as your own. I loved you always even during the times we squabbled... even those memories make me smile. Your fight is over. You are fully healed and in the arms of Jesus. I know your Daddy was waiting for you. Rest Easy my friend... I will never say goodbye but see you later.. hugs and prayers Nate. Stacey and Mindy!!

“ I remember Melissa as being a very kind person. She was one of the first to befriend me after moving to Havana and a new school. That may seem like something small, but at the time it was a most important gesture to me. It has been a while since I have seen her. I remember her kindness most off all. Thank you, Melissa, for being there when I needed a friend. My sincere condolences to her family.
