“ I will never forget driving Thelma around Pennsylvania township in the early fall of 2015 to show her some of the fields. Thelma showed me the house where she had grown up and the place where the one room school house once sat where and her sister had gone to grade school. Thelma told me that their father had bought them both ponies so they didn't always have to walk to school and sometimes they would ride home for lunch. The stories she told me that day of the way things used to be seemed like something out of an old movie because of how long ago it had been. Thelma talked about when Nub had gone to WW2 and how that didn't seem that long ago. And how she learned to read and write short hand because long before computers it was the best way to record lots of information in a small space. When Covid started and I couldn't go visit with Thelma I feel like I have missed out on many more memories.

“ Thelma and her husband, "Nub", were dear friends of my my grandmother's (Marge Phelps). I have years of memories going to lunches, Birthday Club, and church functions at the UM Church in Easton with Thelma. What a rich life she lived to make it to 102! Such sweet memories and such a lovely lady. Thelma, you will be missed.

“ I met Miss Thelma, when I cared for her husband, we became friends after that. I remember one time at her house she made the weakest cup of coffee I've ever seen. But I drank it. We chuckled about it many times. Fly high with the angels my dear, certainly gained your wings ☐
