“ Memories of Timmy are many. He always wanted to stay with his Uncle Pete and me anytime we were visiting. We had only been married less than two weeks in 1962 and as we were planning to go home after having a celebration for Christmas with the family. He asked "Aunt Nancy - can I go home with you." I was thrilled, but apprehensive. Since we were not too far away and had a telephone and parental permission off we went. He took his new toys and we played for 3 or 4 days before time to take him back home. That created a pattern and we loved having custody of him for bits and pieces of his formative years. This "Can I come home with you today?" turned into a regular routine. Even when not planned ahead - when we went by to visit as we were leaving he would run in the house and come out with a paper bag full of clothes with the same plea. And of course we always said, "If it is okay with your Mother." Thank you Nancy for sharing your child with us.
