“ I'm thinking about you tonight, Wayne. You left a REAL imprint on my heart. You were so strong as the sea of teenagers came through Jeff's visitation...it'll be 36 years tomorrow night when we walked through that line. I remember it like yesterday. I was in a state of shock but by the time I got to you...I just looked at you and fell apart. It was shock, fear, heartbreak and you took it all. You brought me right in and comforted ME for crying out loud...while I bawled on your shoulder. You comforted all of us, Wayne. Those days have never left me and it has taught me A LOT about life. I'll never forget Jeff...and I'll never forget you, Wayne. You never ever failed to raise my spirits. I can't wait to see you again someday. Please tell Jeff that I sure do miss him and that I love him...and that I love his Dad! God bless us, everyone. And may God bless you Wayne, and all of yours.
